DEDICATION

This year's Key staff takes pride in announcing the dedication of the 1968 Key to Dr. Augustin Pascual. Dr. Pascual is a professor of Spanish, head of the Language Department, and Chairman of the Language and Literature Division of the College. He came to Dubuque in September 1961 from Cuba, and he has proved his outstanding character by the aid he has given his friends that have remained in Cuba. He received a Doctor of Pedagogy degree from the University of Havana and has taken additional study in New Mexico.

On campus Dr. Pascual is an advisor to the Mu Sigma Beta fraternity and is also active in the Foreign Students Organization. Dr. and Mrs. Pascual live at 2173 Bennett Street and have two children, Mrs. Russell Niehaus and Gus.

Dr. and Mrs. Pascual stop to chat after the President's Inauguration.

Dr. Pascual takes a chance to rest from grading papers.

During a meeting of the foreign students at the President's house, Dr. Pascual has the opportunity to talk to the students.

SILHOUETTES OF

FACULTY, ADMINISTRATION

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

This year the University of Dubuque has witnessed the inauguration of a new president, William G. Chalmers. President Chalmers received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Whitworth College, his Bachelor of Divinity from Princeton Theological Seminary, and received his honorary doctorate degree this year from Whitworth College. He has been associated with several educational and theological institutions before coming to Dubuque.

At the university, President Chalmers is always in close communication with students and faculty members. His willingness and interest in school activities have helped enlarge his popularity on the campus.

STUDENT SENATE

Senate Officers: Dick Harken, President; Ron Raine, Vice-President; Ron Pearson, Treasurer; Judy Hay, Secretary.

The Student Senate is the vital legislative and executive power of the college. This organization allows the best channel of communication between students and administration. This governing body promotes cultural and academic as well as social affairs.

Each year the individual classes select their Senate representatives according to what they feel to be the qualities necessary for advancement of the organization.

Dick Harken, Senate President, as a guest on WGVU's Campus Controversy Program.

High Court of the university is the most important judicial body of the students themselves. Their decision over-powers any decision made by the lower courts. The members of High Court are chosen by the Administration as students whose characters are particularly honest, sincere, and impartial.

The Association of Women Students is composed of all women university students. The governing board is representatives chosen by each class and the officers. This year's officers are: Jan Roys, President; Chris Roberts, Vice President; Fern Lumpkin, Secretary; Sharon Jensen, Treasurer. This year's activities included a bake-in by which AWS members sent hundreds of cookies to the boys in Viet Nam, a book sales, May Fete Olympics, among others.

Members of AWS work diligently baking cookies for the soldiers in Viet Nam.

DINNER CLUB

Outstanding students of the university are represented by their membership of Dinner Club. These progressive students are entertained for dinner once a month and gain knowledgeable information from various speakers. This form of information is beneficial to students of the organization for it opens up many new areas.

FOREIGN STUDENTS CLUB

Monique Tang and Lilly Leyer discuss the evening's activities with President Chalmers.

CONCERT BAND

The concert band of the university allows time for a picture before warming up for a concert in Peter's Commons.

The University of Dubuque concert band provides the student with hours of pure entertainment. They present several concerts during the school year including various types of music. Classical, modern, contemporary, and other types of music by the best of composers are included in the program. Shubert, Mozart, and Bach are well known to the members of the band. Many of the members also play with the Dubuque Symphony Orchestra.

Richard Fuller conducts the concert band as a student director.

The concert choir of the University of Dubuque added a touch of classical and contemporary music to students. Their voices ring out the best of music by the greatest of composers under the direction of Lawrence Weller.

This year during Easter vacation, the choir toured the eastern states singing in various and numerous New England cities. At this time students in the choir had the opportunity to also do a great deal of sight-seeing.

Lawrence Weller pushes the choir members to gain the best sound possible.

CONCERT CHOIR

The members of the concert choir garbed in their robes take time out from their strenuous rehearsing for a picture.

Pam Robinson and Pat Franzen crop pictures for the Senior pages.

Hard work and a lot of patience are the qualifications needed to turn out a good annual. Much effort is afforded to produce a book of memories; this includes layouts, copy, endless hours of planning and typing, but we hope that students will find enjoyment in memorable past experiences recorded in this book.

DELTA PHI SIGMA

SEATED: Elizabeth Williams, Joanne Tillotson, June Canevari; STANDING: Linda Low, Mary Kay Griswold, Gay Wilker, Karen Justis, Rachel Jackson.

Though the Delta Phi Sigma sorority is small, it facilitates the abilities of individual girls to great extent. These girls have worked hard at car washes, TGIF's, Homecoming floats, the Delta Mitten Tree, and their annual dance, "Dogpatch Capers".

As in all sororities, sisterhood plays an important role in the success of the girls. Academic, social, and value standards are attained by these girls.

A Gamma Phi Alumna, Mary Bulman, returns for Sweetheart Swirl with her date Ted Spurduto.

This year as several times in the past, the Gamma Phi Delta sorority has won the Scholarship trophy among the competition of the three sororities. Obviously academic excellence is one of the chief aims of the Gammas.

Sisterhood and friendship are two more goals achieved through cooperative work on floats, bake sales, parties, TGIF's, and dances. The Gammas are well known for their Sweetheart Swirl which is a semi-formal dance in February.

Barbara Sendেকে—Gamma Phi Delta
President.

ZETA PHI

SEATED: Ginny Gallentine, Cookie Spencer Kuhle, Judy Hay, Eileen Hancock; STANDING: Linda Penney, Shirley Twitchell, Jan Roys, Betsy Porter.

Loyalty, friendship, and sisterhood are the key words thought by the members of the Zeta Phi sorority. Goals of leadership, scholarship, and friendliness are sought by these girls.

Included among their yearly activities are Playboy Lounge, Homecoming festivities, car-washes, slave days, breakfasts, and parties. Togetherness is apparent throughout these activities.

Kathy Haselton—Zeta Phi President.

ATHENAEAN

The Athenaeon fraternity has been well represented in many of the university activities. The Athenaeon fort at Homecoming, Pizza suppers, TGIF's, and closed party highlight the activities of the A's. The smallness of this fraternity promotes its closeness and great friendship. This type of brotherhood is of primary importance to the Athenaeon fraternity.

Lee Mauriber—Athenaeon President.

PHI OMICRON

The Phi Omicron fraternity strives for scholarship, brotherhood leadership, and loyalty. This is clearly seen through the closeness of the fraternity.

Among activities throughout the year, the Phi O's take part in the building of floats, putting forth a Christmas dance, and gathering privately for fun. The friendship and spirit they maintain is well seen.

Jerry Anderson—Phi Omicron President.

SEATED: Steve Nash, Henry Santsaver, Ross Farrugia, Steve Sarelas, Greg Sander; SECOND ROW: Denny Struck, Mark Brodersen, Bob Miller, Bob Place, Mike Kass, Dave Sommerschild; THIRD ROW: Bill Burnette, Roger Petersen, Gary Peckham, Lee Massey, Wally Widelski.

Bob Finnegan dunks one despite the Buena Vista opposition.

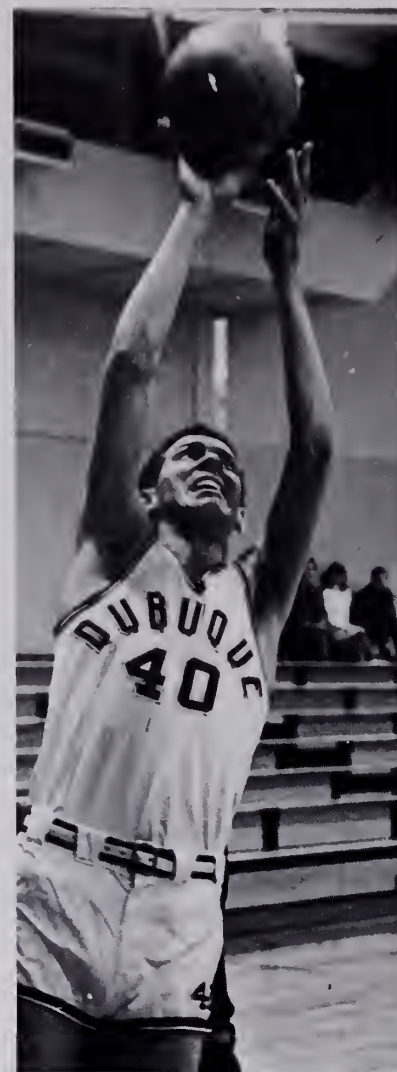

The offensive play continues without the help of Jerry McAleece for a minute.

Jerry McAleece goes for two.

Daryl Garner tries to get himself untangled while retaining control over the ball.

Larry Tanter goes up for two.

Players fight for the rebound.

Bob Finnegan tries to over shoot Loras' block.

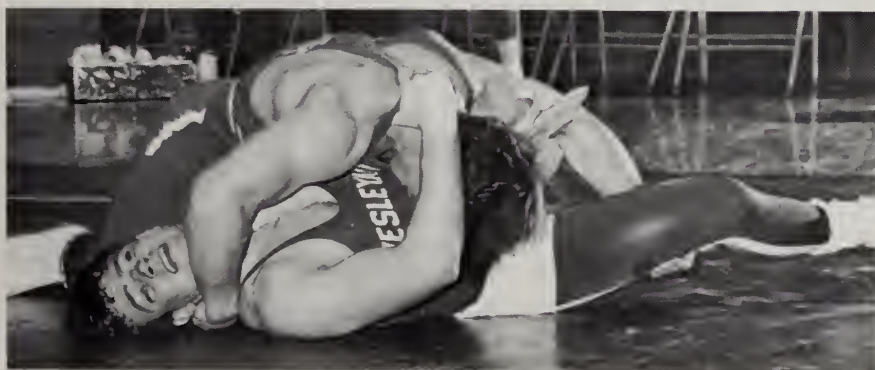

WRESTLING

Dan Daack uses a strong arm to throw his opponent.

A nose bleed cannot interfere with Dan Jury's wrestling tactics.

Denny Struck tries for a pin, and his contender appears a little worried.

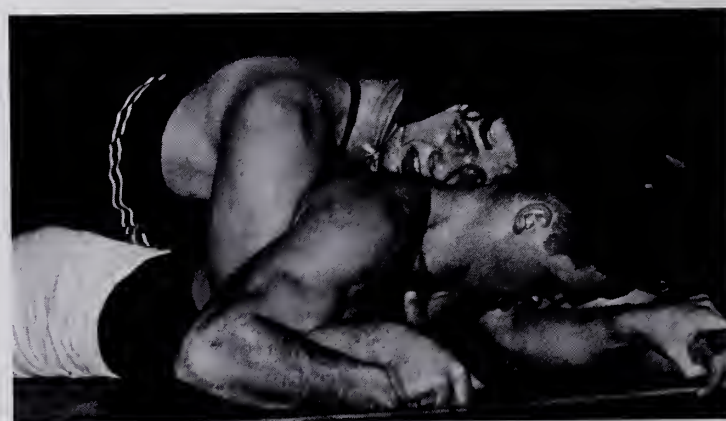

Ron Brown displays his strength.

Ozell Hudson has a Westleyan wrestler in an uneasy position.

Denny Struck works on tiring his opponent in order to get that hold worth points.

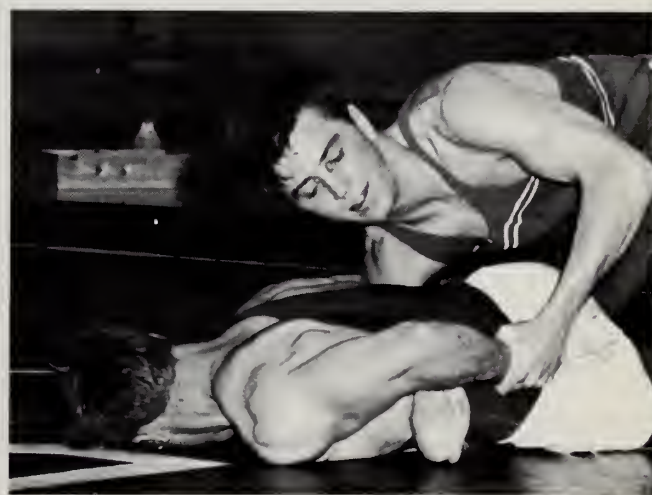

Mike Kass has a good hold on a Luther wrestler.

Steve Sarelas and opponent tangle at a meet.

UD wrestler, Ron Sagers, seems to be the controlling influence of his pair.

It looks like Al Houck is in a little trouble.

Ron Brown has a strong hold on his opponent.

Joel Simms has a Wesleyan wrestler under control.

Dave Bettinger is declared the winner by the referee.

Ozell Hudson moves in the pin, and the referee begins the count.

BASEBALL

This year the UD baseball team was hindered due to the fact that there was only one returning regular. This, therefore, was a year of rebuilding, and improvement was greatly noticable. Long hours of practice were responsible for the improvement, but this was not enough to move the Spartans out of last place.

The next baseball season looks promising with the return of many of this year's regulars. The university should have an outstanding team.

Ben Hibbs rounds second base on his trip home.

Jerry Yoder swings for a hit while a Wartburg catcher prepares for a miss.

The center fielder makes a run for the ball.

"You're out!" is the call given by the umpire against a Luther player.

Bruce Taylor pitches a fast ball to the opponent.

Ken Hartig hits one way out into right field which is enough to get him a double.

Steve Pierce displays perfect form as he drives off number 1 hole.

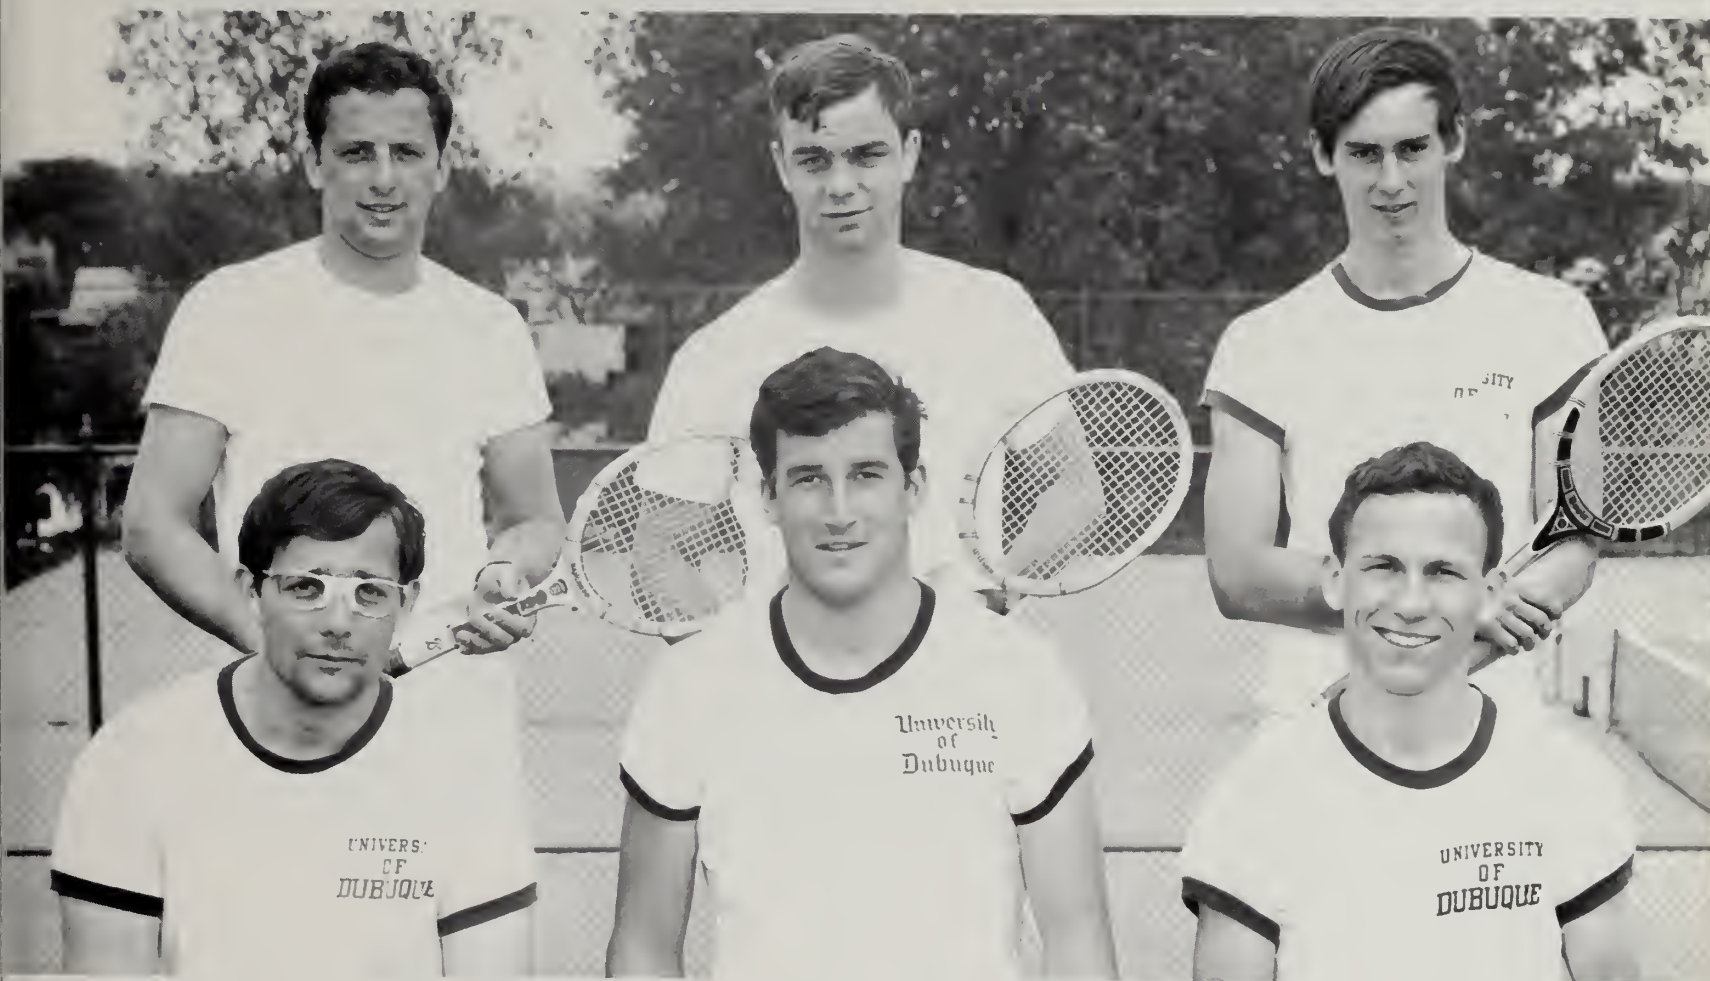

This year's fifth place in conference play was awarded to the University of Dubuque golf team. The spring season was short this year for the golfers since weather did not permit several meets. The team had the advantage of having several returning lettermen plus many new members. Experience should in the next year produce a good team.

TENNIS

The tennis team competed whenever the weather permitted, however many meets were cancelled due to the rainy weather. The weather could not dampen the spirits and determination of the tennis team. Although many losses were recorded, several wins made the season rewarding. This year the tennis team ended in fourth place position.

Jeff Dodge rushes in for the ball.

Pole vaulter, Gary Samp, clears the bar by a safe margin.

TRACK

Dave Horstmann and Terry Quinn run for the finish.

This year's track team finished fourth in the conference. Returning lettermen contributed experience needed for a successful team. Although the team is not large, the talent of those involved is great. This year coaches Davison and Mercer shared the honors of leading the university trackmen to many victories. Mercer missed the first action due to illness.

Due to excellent sportsmanship, the spirit and determination was never lessened by a lose.

Gary Grimm puts the shot for the university team.

CHEERLEADERS

Sandy Mattera leads students in a cheer at a freshmen pep rally.

Carol Claudon, captain, cheers her favorite team.

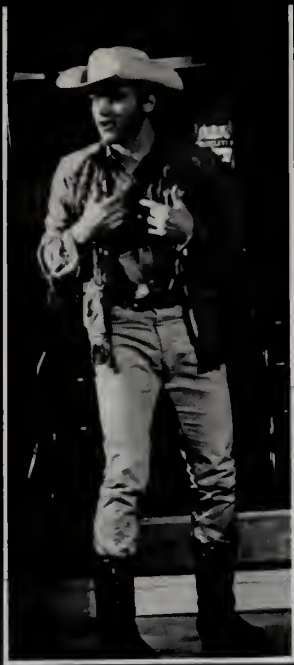

Cheerleaders have a sometimes difficult task of arousing the enthusiasm in the university students. No matter the score, they remain true to their team.

This year Carol Claudon as captain has led the cheerleaders in fine performance. Being a cheerleader requires long hours of hard practice, improving old cheers and originating new cheers.

This year the cheerleaders were chosen by organization presidents and senate representatives.

SILHOUETTES OF

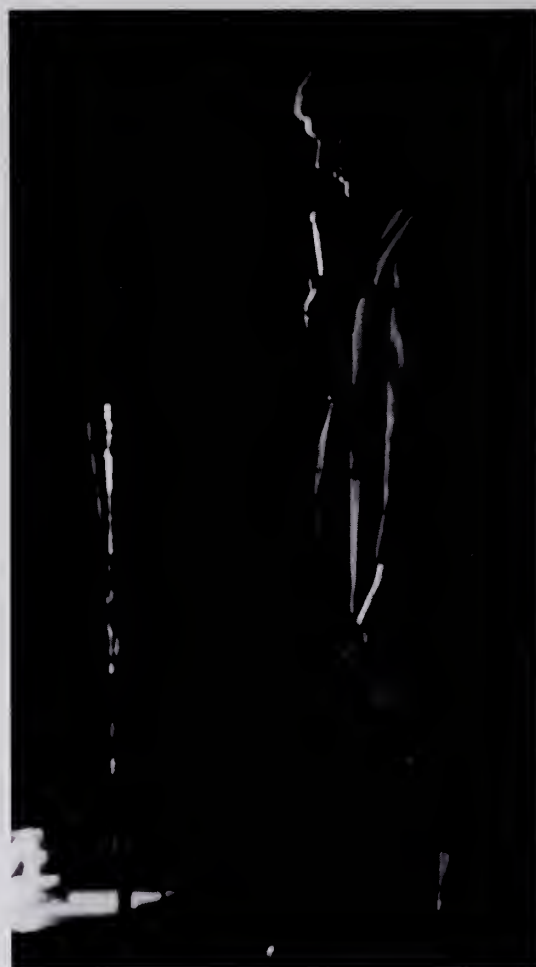

SPECIAL EVENTS

Freshmen and new students have their first experience with registration.

Dave Frump is Master of Ceremonies for the Freshmen Talent Show.

Kathy Moskovitz and Ron Pearson try to help a freshman with a problem in registration.

Freshmen were greeted with a totally new experience upon their arrival on the University of Dubuque campus. As soon as they arrived, they began work on the Freshmen Talent Show through which they present themselves to the upper classmen.

Registration and the meeting of new people opened the doors for the new freshmen. Upper classmen learned a great deal about the personalities of the freshmen through the activities provided at Kangaroo Court.

Freshmen portray "Snow White" starring Barb Cobble.

Freshmen listen to the Spartan yells presented by the cheerleaders at a pep rally especially for them.

FRESHMEN ORIENTATION

Folk singers, Barb Pickerell, Pam Henricks, Holly Compton, and Gail Hobbs, sing up a storm for upper classmen.

Kangaroo Court judge, John Smith, chuckles at the defendent's explanation.

George Parthemore assists Elaine Levers in a paper-eating contest.

D Club members, court jurists, vote thumbs down after listening to the defence.

Oh no, sir; don't do that to me!!

Freshmen boys model their beanies, which are the outstanding characteristics of incoming freshmen.

Here comes the judge.

Lipstick marks the final beauty procedures of this freshman, Wendy Illard.

Laurie Bullard has dessert at Kangaroo Court.

Freshmen boys watch with interest at the pep rally.

During the Ferrante and Teicher concert, students anxiously await the announcement of the Homecoming queen and court.

Cowboys and Indians flocked into Dubuque to help carry out the theme "The Wild Wild West". The Homecoming weekend began Friday, October 13 at 12:15. A pep rally heightened the spirits of the UD students as a beginning. Friday afternoon primarily was used for the completion of floats and preparation for the weekend. The Ferrante and Teicher concert and coronation highlighted the evening.

After alumni registration Saturday morning, alumni and students strolled the campus viewing the various displays. In the afternoon the football game proved to be victorious. Saturday evening ended the weekend romantically with a semi-formal dance carrying out the theme.

Cheerleader June Canevari and Cowgirl daughters of Coach Davison present the traditional roses to the queen.

Homecoming queen, Cookie Spencer, reigns over the football game.

Spectators greet the Spartan team with great enthusiasm.

Students work endless hours on Homecoming displays.

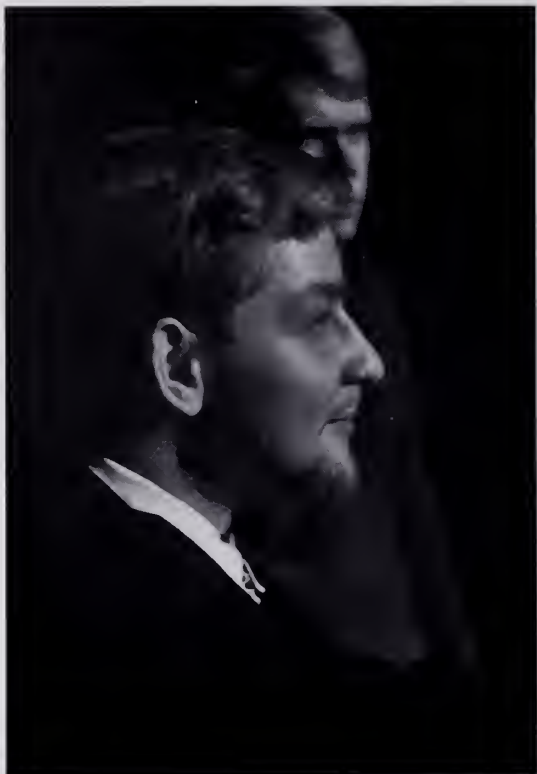

An old time locomotive captured first place for the Gamma Phi Delta sorority in the display division.

"Set 'em up Spartans" was the theme of the Deltas' third place display.

The creative "Spartan Schooner" by the Mu Sigs was the second place display.

Greg Jember, Jean, listens intently to the conversation.

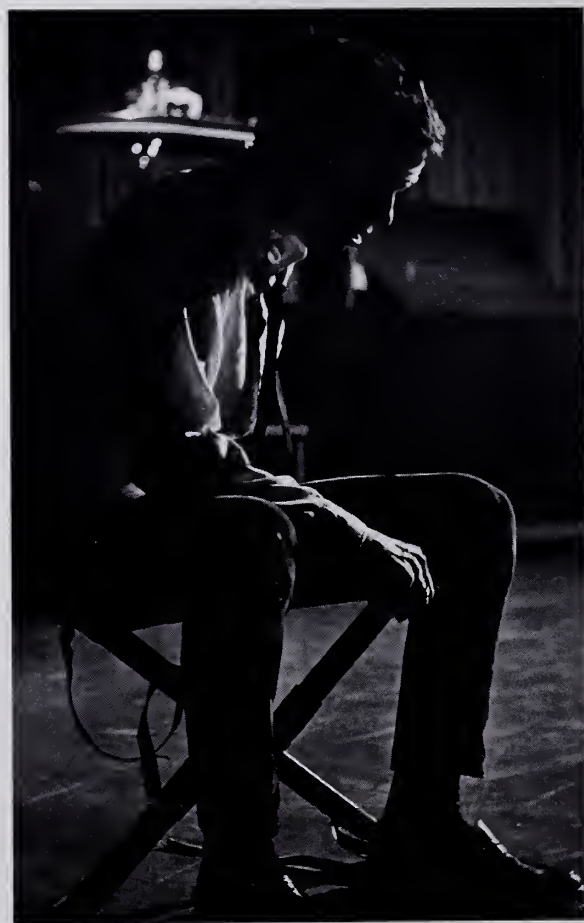

RHINOCEROS

The fall play presented by the University Players was "Rhinoceros". This deep and motivating play is from the theater of the absurd. Long hours and great concentration were put into this experimental production.

Mr. Richard Robinson directed this play with the student assistance of Amy Gabriel. Mrs. Florence Gifford was technical director.

The efforts of all involved were all awarded by the success of "Rhinoceros", which is a true award for any actor.

Chris Kazimir is startled by the thundering noise of the rhinoceroses.

Jim Goulding, Berrengé, ponders the present conditions.

Greg Jember, an intellectual, speaks of the evil forces of alcohol to Jim Goulding.

Paul Jerrett informs friends of the news of rhinoceroses roaming the city.

Jim Goulding, Berrengé, does not believe the change coming over Greg Jember, Jean.

Ann Henning is comforted by friend when her cat is killed by the rhinoceroses.

Students from every Dubuque college enjoy dancing to a rock band at Playboy Lounge.

PLAYBOY LOUNGE

Linda Penney, one of the two Go-go girls, dances up a storm.

Chris Friedlein checks shoes for the sake of protecting the gym floor.

This year's Playboy Lounge features models representing various countries of the world. This is one of the ways the Zetas present their pledge class to the university. The theme was "Girls A-Go-Go", and it was carried out by the entertainment of two go-go girls and the up-to-date dress of the girls all over the world.

The dance was a sock hop in order to preserve the new gymnasium floor. Good music and good company helped make the dance an evening of enjoyment for all who attended.

DOGPATCH CAPERS

Each year the members of Delta Phi Sigma sorority present "Dogpatch Capers". This is a very informal dance in which students dress in the style of those from Dogpatch, U.S.A. Students choose a Daisy Mae and Lil Abner from the student body. This year Sue Herzog was Daisy May and Roger Kuhle was Lil Abner.

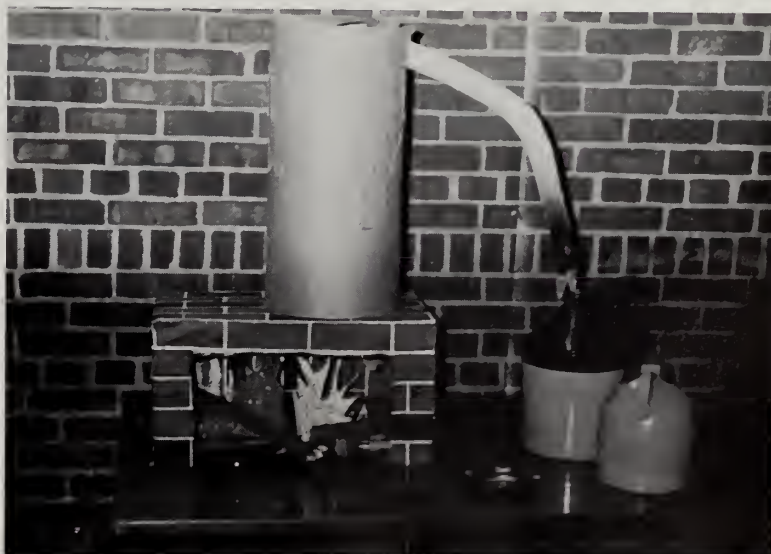

All those present enjoyed the dance in its informal atmosphere.

Roger Kuhle and Sue Herzog reigned over "Dogpatch Capers" as Daisy May and Lil Abner.

Lil Abner and Daisy May lead others in a dance.

This whiskey still and jugs very well represent the occupations of those from Dogpatch.

Members of the Alumni team discuss their strategy with their coach, Moco Mercer.

Alumni, Mr. & Mrs. Robert Harr and son, return to the university for the game.

ALUMNI GAME

This year the Senate sponsored the alumni basketball again. An alumni team, composed of any interested alumni, played against the University of Dubuque ball team. Many alumni also returned as spectators to cheer on their past college friends. This exciting and fun filled game proved victorious for the Dubuque team.

Alumni team members warm the bench for those who were then playing.

SANTA'S SKI LODGE

Judy Frank was crowned Santa's Sweetheart by Santa himself at Santa's Ski Lodge.

No Christmas dance would be complete without Santa Claus, Larry Reelitz.

The spirit of Christmas is well seen in the faces of those present at Santa's Ski Lodge.

Santa's Ski Lodge was again presented to the students by the Phi Omicron fraternity. The sounds of The Bands of Golds filled Peter's Commons for student entertainment. Each year the four fraternities choose a girl to represent their fraternity; Santa's Sweetheart is then chosen in an all-school election. Judy Frank was this year's Santa's Sweetheart.

Ten candidates are chosen each year for the title of Key Queen; the Key staff makes this selection from the list of girls who have a grade point of 2.2. Five girls are then chosen from the ten candidates in an all-school election. From these girls, the Key Queen is chosen in another election. The Key Queen is then announced at the Sweetheart Swirl sponsored by the Gamma Phi Delta sorority.

This year Nancy Doyle represented our year-book as the Key Queen.

Key Queen, Nancy Doyle, escorted by John Wallace, reigns over Sweetheart Swirl.

SWEETHEART SWIRL

The Gamma Phi Delta sorority, again sponsored their Valentine's dance, Sweetheart Swirl. Those who attended witnessed the crowning of the new Key Queen, Nancy Doyle, by last year's queen, Joellyn Perry Stabenow.

Although the attendance was not large, those present greatly enjoyed the wonderful music and atmosphere.

Couples at Sweetheart Swirl enjoy the romantic atmosphere made possible by the Gamma Phi Delta sorority.

Last year's Key Queen, Joellyn Stabenow, and her husband Bob returned for the dance to crown the new queen.

Linda Mentz and Pete Templeman enter through the Gamma heart.

Kit Carson, Bob Bennethum, referees a gum chewing contest between Tom, J. B. Straley, and Joe, Greg Jember; they tied with 35 sticks apiece.

The spring play this year was "The Time of Your Life". This was a comedy which took place in Nick's Bar. True entertainment was attained with this fully professional production.

This play was under the direction of Mrs. Florence Gifford and technically assisted by Mr. Richard Robinson. Miss Beverly Ungry was the student director.

THE TIME OF YOUR LIFE

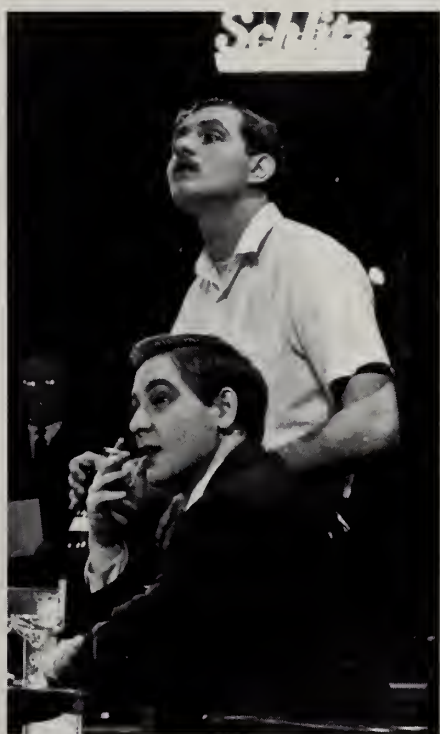

Kitty the prostitute, Amy Gabriel, scorns the life she has lead.

The society woman, Wanda Hillhouse, smokes a cigar much to the dismay of her husband, Dick Harken.

Rick Carney as the dancing comedian, does not capture the interest of those at Nick's bar.

Joe, Greg Jember, and Nick, Paul Jerrett, marvel at the antics of a society couple.

Arab, the intellectual, contemplates the world around him over a glass of beer.

Kit Carson, Bob Bennethum, and Joe, Greg Jember, exchange modest exaggerations.

MAY FETE

The weekend of May Fete is one most enjoyable of the school year. Thursday evening is the beginning of the weekend with the Stunt Show and coronation of the May Fete Queen and King. The junior class is responsible for this weekend in honor of the senior class.

Friday night entertainment was provided by the Social Board in a First Edition, a folk-rock group, concert. The grand finale of the weekend was the formal dance Saturday evening.

Kathy Haselton and Paul Clayton reigned as queen and king for the weekend. The queen, king, and court were chosen by the entire student body.

PRESIDENTIAL INAUGURATION

President Chalmers addresses his audience at the inauguration.

After a number of years, the University of Dubuque witnessed again the inauguration of a new president, William G. Chalmers. This proved to be a festive occasion on the university campus.

Invitations were sent to hundreds of people for the luncheons, entertainment, and formal procedures. A concert was held on Friday night for those in attendance. The inauguration itself took place early Saturday afternoon. The evening then produced elegance and splendor at the formal Presidential Ball, the highlight of the event.

Students picket the Presidential Inauguration showing their support of President Chalmers and wish for more reforms.

Professors and important people are among those in the procession for the inauguration of the new University of Dubuque President.

BACCALAUREATE

University Marshal, Dr. George Bhlhardt, leads graduates to the Baccalaureate service.

University students greeted one of the most important events of their lives with both enthusiasm and sadness; this event was their college graduation. They leave the security they have found in school for perhaps the army, marriage, jobs, or graduate school.

May 26 released the bonds of many with the university, but memories will remain intact.

Robert French presents his baccalaureate address to students and friends.

Graduates seriously sing the Alma Mater at Baccalaureate services.

GRADUATION

SENIOR CLASS Officers—SEATED: Paul Clayton, President, STANDING from left to right: John Von Tish, Judy Hay, and Jim Krapf.

This is the year in which a dream becomes a reality. A year in which life's most important decisions must be made. Where does one go after leaving the security and friends made in college? It is an end and a beginning. The memories of past experiences will long be present in the hearts of every senior.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The sophomore year is a year of reassurance after the completion of the freshman year. There is no longer strangeness, the university becomes now a home away from home. One must now probe into his innermost being to make some of the most important decisions of his life; these include ideas about future plans, major, etc. This is the sophomore year.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Freshman class officers: Dave Frump, President; Gretchen Siekmann, Bill Penn, and Dave Kruschka (absent when picture taken), Senate representatives.

September at the University of Dubuque was met with great enthusiasm by the incoming, inexperienced freshmen. Soon they learned their way around the campus and became more at ease with their new home. This is a time of doubt, joy, freedom, and hope—this is the freshman year.

IN MEMORIAM

DAVID CAMPBELL

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Work piled so high that Al and I never thought we would see the end.

This year all those connected with the '68 KEY worked diligently to give the students the type of yearbook they wanted. This was a difficult task due to diverse ideas, but we listened to criticisms of past books and planned our book accordingly. We hope we have been successful.

No one realizes the work involved in creating a book from scratch unless they are part of the people doing the work. It often seemed unlikely that an end would ever come, but miraculously the end did come. We often wondered if it was all worth the effort we put forth, but by seeing the finished product we will gain a wonderful feeling of accomplishment.

I would now like to express my sincere gratitude to all those who contributed their time and effort to produce the '68 KEY. Our photographer, Cal Stickel, deserves a special thanks for patience and understanding.
